Girl hurls purse at Turk.

Girl – Sir, you have nerve. You put dirt on my fake fur coat.

Turk ---- Miss, I did not put dirt on your coat.

Girl --- (In a firm tone) Sir, I heard every word you said. But I saw you put dirt on my fake fur coat. You were on the curb. When you made a turn, the dirt hurled from your shoe onto my coat.

Turk – I am sorry. I feel like a jerk. I put the dirt on your coat, but I did not know it. You deserve to be mad at me.

Girl – Sir, I am no longer mad at you.

Turk – I am very happy that you are not mad. You are a kind and nice girl.

The Chase (Part 1)

The moon was shining into the room. There was a mouse in the room. The mouse was very round. The mouse sat by a boot. Roy came into the room. He went to get the mouse. He wanted to pound the mouse.

The mouse ran a route all around the house. Roy heard the mouse in his wife's purse. Roy got a cat. Roy put the cat to work to get the mouse. The mouse came out of the purse. The cat ran after the mouse. The cat made a turn around a wall and hit a nerve in his paw. The cat was hurt.

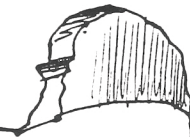

sec. 5-32

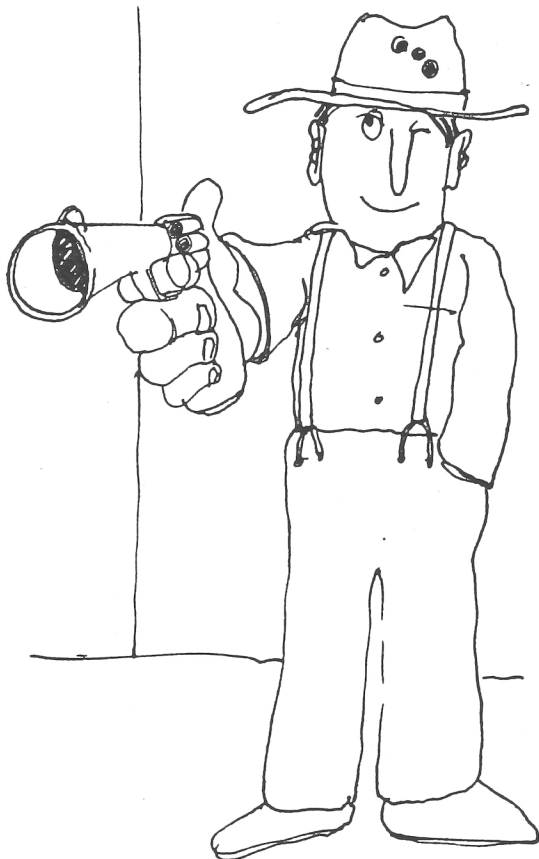

The Chase (Part 2)

Roy was in a rage. He got a big bird to get the mouse. The bird would lurk by a curve and wait for the mouse. He flew after the mouse. He could not get the mouse. The mouse found a worm. The mouse put a germ into the worm. The mouse gave the worm to the bird. The bird ate the worm. The bird did not feel well.

Roy could not get the mouse. The cat could not get the mouse. The bird could not get the mouse. They all left the house and let the mouse have the house.

sec. 5-33

Ground Round Town (Part 1)

It was noon. The day was cool. Only the sound of a bird could be heard. The town was Ground Round Town. Bill Burp was the sheriff. He was a good sheriff. He was a fair sheriff.

Ernie came to town. Ernie had a gun. He fired the gun into the air. He fired it into the dirt. He fired it near a purse.

"Stop!" yelled John. John owned a store in town. John was a good man. "Don't fire your gun," he said in a firm voice. "Don't make all that noise."

Ernie only smiled.

Ernie fired the gun at a worm. He fired it at a hoop made of wood. Jane came out of her home. She was a nice person in town. "Stop that!" she said. "You could hurt someone."

Ernie only smiled.

sec. 5-34

Ground Round Town (Part 2)

It was late. The moon was out. Ernie fired the gun at the round moon. He fired it at a toy boat.

Joe heard the shots. Joe was the mayor of Ground Round Town. Joe sent for the sheriff, Bill Burp. Bill came to see the mayor. Bill's friend Tom was in town. He came too. Tom was a marshal from a nearby town.

Joe went to stop Ernie. Bill and Tom went too. Bill said in a firm voice, "Stop, I am Bill Burp, sheriff of this town." Tom said, "Stop, or we will have to hurt you." Bill said, "Give me your gun."

Ernie only smiled.

Bill had a plan. "Go to the top of the roof, Tom, and jump on Ernie. I will keep him busy, so he will not see you." Tom went on top of the roof. He jumped down on Ernie.

sec. 5-35

Ground Round Town (Part 3)

Pow, Boom, Ow, Pow, Boom, Pow.

Ernie got up. He pulled cotton out of his ears. "What is the matter?" he asked. "Why did you do that?"

"We have been trying to get you to stop shooting. You need to learn about gun safety," said Bill.

"I could not hear you with all the cotton in my ears," said Ernie. "I am sorry if I caused any trouble. I put the cotton in my ears to keep the sound of the gun fire out. It was too loud."

The morals of the story:

When you go to Ground Round Town, make sure you look up and down. Ernie might have cotton in his ears and not hear a sound and shoot off your hat in Ground Round Town. Don't play with guns!
